

CONTENTS

Foreword to the Princeton Classics Edition	vii
Foreword	xiii
Note of Acknowledgment	xv
List of Plates	xxi
List of Text Figures	xxxix
Preface	xlvii

PART I

1. The Structure of the Archetype	3
The nature of the archetype: dynamic, symbolism, material component, structure, 3—The symbol group, 6—The primordial archetype and the genetic aspect, 7—Mythological apperception and symbolism, 15
2. The Archetypal Feminine and the Great Mother	18
SCHEMA I: Uroboros, Archetypal Feminine, Great Mother, 18
3. The Two Characters of the Feminine	24
Elementary and transformative characters, 24—The functional spheres of the elementary character, 25—Psychic gravitation as foundation of the elementary character, 26—The dynamic element of the transformative character, 28—The transformation mysteries of the Feminine, 31—Anima and transformative character, 33—SCHEMA I, continued: differentiation of Great Mother and anima, 36
4. The Central Symbolism of the Feminine	39
The vessel: woman = body = vessel, 39—The outside world as world-body-vessel, 40—The formula of the primordial age: woman = body = vessel = world, 43—SCHEMA II: vessel symbolism, 44—The symbolism of the elementary character: belly and womb, 44—The breast and the transformative character, 46—The matriarchal Feminine and child symbolism, 48—Symbolism of plant and animal, 48
5. The Transformation Mysteries	55
Night sky and moon, 55—SCHEMA II, continued: rebirth, 58—The Feminine as the creative, 61

C O N T E N T S

6. The Functional Spheres of the Feminine 64
SCHEMA III: elementary and transformative characters as axes, 64—The positive and negative poles, 64—The functional circles and points of intersection, 65—The poles of the circle of spiritual transformation as the four mystery precincts, 71
7. The Phenomenon of Reversal and the Dynamic of the Archetype 75
SCHEMA III, continued: the poles as archetypal figures, 75—The poles as turning points, 76—The unity of the poles and axes, 76—The goddesses at the poles, 80—Psychic phases and historical events, 82

P A R T II

A . T H E E L E M E N T A R Y C H A R A C T E R

8. Introduction 89
9. The Primordial Goddess 94
The sacral significance of the Stone Age Mother, 94—The elementary character as vessel of abundance, 95—The meaning of steatopygia, 98—The throne, 98—Accentuation of fertility and sexuality, 103—The unity of opposites, 103—Abstraction and the transformative character, 105—The goddess with the upraised arms, 114
10. The Positive Elementary Character 120
The vessel character, 120—Mouth and eyes, 122—The breast symbolism of the vessel, 123—Upper and lower nourishment, 123—The numinous symbolism of the body, 128—The mother-child relationship: the nourishing, 129—The belly-vessel: the bearing, 133—The navel, 132—The preparation of the vessel, 133—The protective vessel, 137—The womb, 138—Mother and daughter goddess, 142—The receiving vessel: the snake, 143—The ambivalence of the goddess, 145
11. The Negative Elementary Character 147
The negative symbolism of the Feminine and the unconscious, 147—The Terrible Mother as the devouring earth, 149—Kali, Coatlicue, Gorgons, Rangda, 150—The Terrible as a psychic phantom, 153—Underworld, land of the dead, earth, west; cave, gate, pillar, dolmen, gate, fence, 157—The gates of the underworld and their goddess, 160—The vessel of death: pithos, urn, coffin, 162—The bird of the dead:

Contents

vulture, crow, raven, 164—Fear of decay, 165—The Terrible Mother: the Gorgon, 166—The destructive male attributes of the Feminine: snake, teeth, tusks, tongue, 168—Goddess of the gate and the way, 170—Death vessel of the underworld: hell, gullet, 171—Magic, 172
The Symbolism of the Terrible Mother in Melanesia. The matriarchal world: guardian spirit, 173—Land of the dead, labyrinth, night sea voyage, 174—Spider, crab woman, rat, giant bivalve, maw of death, moon, stone altar, 177

The Matriarchal World of America. Night sky, world of the beginning, 179—Lunar mythology and Great Mother in Peru, 179—The night goddess as Gorgon and the death of the heroes of light, 180—The symbol canon of the Terrible Mother in Mexico, 181—Earth, night, death, underworld, 182—The matriarchal background of Aztec culture, 185—The obsidian religion, 190—The unity of the Great Goddess, 191—The fertility ritual, 194—The feminine symbolism of the Masculine, 195—Mother and daughter goddess, 197—The son-lover, 198—Sacrifice and birth, 199—Quetzalcoatl: the hero, the transformation, the regression, 203

B. THE TRANSFORMATIVE CHARACTER

12. The Great Round 211

The Great Goddess as Great Round, 211—Unity of upper and lower: night sky, earth, underworld, primordial ocean, 211—The original uroboric darkness, 212—Tiamat and the primordial age, 213—The clothed goddess, 215—Egypt: sea, egg, cow, 217—Hathor, Nut, Isis, Mehurt, 218—Bast, the goddess of Sais, 220—Nut and Naunet, 221—The goddess of the night sky, 223

The Goddess of Fate. The goddess of weaving: Egypt, Greece, the Germanic countries, the Mayans, 227—The mill, 234—The wheel of life, 234—The round, 239

13. The Lady of the Plants 240

The symbolism of Egypt, 240—Birth: primordial ocean, primordial hill, primordial serpent and lotus, 241—The goddess as tree, 241—Sycamore, djed pillar, sun-bearing tree, 242—Nest, crib, cradle, coffin, 243—Tree of heaven, 244—Tree of souls, 245—Tree of fate, 246—The twofold significance of the feminine wood: tree of life and tree of death, 252—Cross, bed, ship, cradle, 256—The Earth Mother: water, swamp, mountain, stone, 260—Vegetation symbolism, 261—Great Mother and beehive, 265

CONTENTS

14. The Lady of the Beasts	268
On the psychology of the matriarchate, 268—Totemism, 269—Rain magic, 270—Exogamy, 270—Feminine and male group, 271—Great Goddess and beasts, 272—Animal and human forms of the goddess, 276—Sacrifice, 279
15. Spiritual Transformation	281
The primordial mysteries of the Feminine, 281—Mysteries of preservation, formation, nourishment, and transformation: vessel, cave, house, tomb, temple, 282—Pillar and enclosure, 283—Hunt magic and food, 283—Food storage and preservation of fire, 284—Transformation of food, 285—Intoxicant and medicine, 286
The Woman as Mana Figure. The Feminine as vessel of transformation, 287—Priestess, shaman, etc., 288—The feminine mana figure and the anima, 290—Prophecy, poetry, dance, 296—Medicine, drug, and intoxicant, 299—Berserkerism and the feminine, 302—The goddess of fate, 304
The Woman's Experience of Herself and the Eleusinian Mysteries. The mother-daughter relationship, 305—The marriage of death, 308—The birth of the son: fire and light, 309—The matricide and the sun, 316—The virgin and the ear of grain, 317—On the matriarchal psychology of the Eleusinian mysteries, 317—The Eleusinian mysteries and the Masculine, 319
Sophia. The vessel of spiritual transformation, 325—The nourishment of the heart, 329—Vestigial forms of Sophia in the West, 331—Kwan-yin and Tara, 332
Bibliography	339
Index	357
Plates	383