A stunningly illustrated celebration of the world's best bird photography

Bird Photographer of the Year

The Bird Photographer of the Year is a competition that celebrates the artistry of bird photography from around the world, and this beautiful, large-format book showcases the best images from the contest—some of the most stunning bird photographs ever taken. A gorgeous record of avian beauty and diversity across the globe, the book demonstrates the dedication and passion of bird photographers and the incredible quality of today's digital imaging systems.

The book features the best of tens of thousands of images from the ninth year of the competition, including the winning and short-listed pictures. It presents a vast variety of photos by experienced professionals and enthusiastic amateurs, reflecting the huge diversity of bird and nature lovers, which is vital for ensuring the conservation and survival of birds. A portion of the profits from this book goes to Birds on the Brink, a charity that supports bird conservation around the world.

With a foreword by Simon King.

The Bird Photographer of the Year judging panel is composed of some of the world's leading photographers and bird conservationists. Simon King is an award-winning British cameraman who specialises in nature documentaries. He has created, filmed, directed, and presented many award-winning television programmes and films.

In the Footsteps of Audubon

In the nineteenth century John James Audubon set out to create a complete pictorial record of North American birdlife. Over a period of sixteen years, recording his own journey in journals and hundreds of original paintings, renowned French watercolourist Denis Clavreul followed in the naturalist's footsteps.

This beautiful book brings together some 250 stunning Clavreul watercolours along with illuminating selections from Audubon's journals and several of his paintings.

Denis Clavreul is a watercolourist, wildlife artist, and biologist whose acclaimed works have been exhibited around the world.

Bird Name Book

"If you have ever wondered about the origins of the English words we use to name birds, this book is for you."

—BirdWatching

Myers provides brief biographies of prominent figures in ornithology and interweaves the stories behind the names with quotes from publications dating back to the 1400s, illuminating the shared evolution of language and our relationships with birds, and rooting the names in the history of ornithological discovery.

Susan Myers is a senior leader at WINGS Birding Tours Worldwide and has led birding tours in Asia and other regions for more than 20 years.

A highly illustrated and portable identification guide to the most common wild flowers and other plants

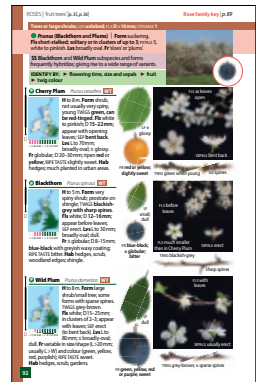

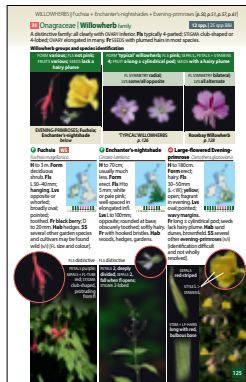

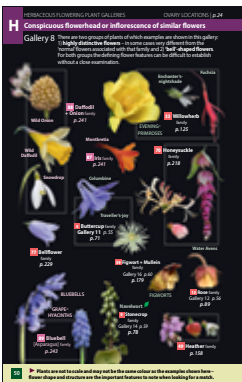

British and Irish Wild Flowers and Plants

- Covers the plants most likely to be seen, including those in coastal areas
- Includes more than 3,800 colour photographs, with macro images of key features when needed
- Features a friendly, easy-to-use design and text written in plain English, with essential botanical terms described and illustrated

This innovative photographic guide covers the most common wild flowers and other plants found in Britain and Ireland, as defined by the very latest distribution maps. It is designed so that anyone faced with an unfamiliar wild plant can confidently put a name to the species or recognise that it is a less common plant needing further investigation. The identification process is based on standard botanical features that are straightforwardly described, clearly illustrated and supported by a simple visual key to families. This book can be your springboard into the wider world of botanical identification, wherever you are, and of plants both common and rare.

Rachel Hamilton has spent a lifetime teaching botany, ecology and conservation. Chris Gibson worked in nature conservation for three decades. Robert Still is the publisher of WILD Guides, a prolific natural history author.

The Hidden Company That Trees Keep

“A tree may be bound to a single spot for the whole of its term. It may endure for centuries and seem heroically resigned, doomed even, to isolation. Yet its entire existence is one prolonged process of sharing. It is a lesson from trees we should heed. Nardi’s book is the perfect place to learn it.”

An authoritative two-volume overview of the distribution of the wild plants of Great Britain and Ireland

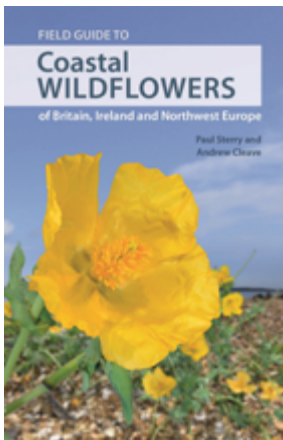

Plant Atlas 2020

Plant Atlas 2020 is the most powerful statement ever produced on the state of our wild and naturalised plants. It presents the results of field surveys by the BSBI, building on past atlas surveys undertaken by the Botanical Society in the twentieth century and draws on the work of thousands of botanists who covered the entirety of Britain and Ireland from 2000 to 2019. The Atlas summarises the trends impacting the current state of the British and Irish flora, assessing the changes since the 1950s and analysing the drivers of change, such as habitat loss, pollution and climate change.

P. A. Stroh, Scientific Officer, BSBI; K. J. Walker, Head of Science, BSBI; T. A. Humphrey, Database Officer, BSBI; O. L. Pescott, Plant Ecologist and Data Analyst, UK Centre for Ecology & Hydrology; R. J. Burkmar, Web Developer, UK Centre for Ecology & Hydrology.

Plankton

Plankton are the unsung heroes of planet Earth. Passive drifters through the world's seas, oceans, and freshwater environments, most are invisible or very small, but some are longer than a whale. They are the global ocean's foundation food, supporting almost all oceanic life, and they are also vitally important for land-based plants, animals, and other organisms. This engaging book reveals the amazing diversity of plankton and how their ecology, life-styles, and adaptations have evolved to suit an enormous range of conditions.

A marvellously illustrated natural history of the world's molluscs

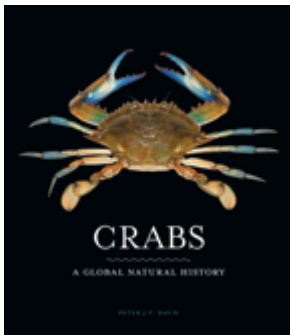

Shells of the World

- Features hundreds of beautiful colour photos, depicting both the live animals and their shells
- Discusses mollusc evolution, anatomy, life cycles, behaviour, and ecology

This book provides a wide-ranging look at the incredible diversity of marine molluscs. An informative introduction outlines the lineages covered, followed by a directory section, split into classes, that profiles a broad selection of different taxa to give a sense of their sheer numbers and variety.

M. G. Harasewych is research zoologist emeritus and former curator in the Department of Invertebrate Zoology at the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Natural History.

Ocean Life in the Time of Dinosaurs

During the Mesozoic era, 252 to 66 million years ago, dinosaurs ruled the land, but the ocean deeps were roiling with equally spectacular reptiles—including giant predators. This richly illustrated, authoritative, and accessible book introduces readers to the world of these fascinating marine animals, whose predecessors returned to the seas a few million years after the first vertebrates emerged from the water.

Nathalie Bardet, Alexandra Houssaye, Stéphane Jouve & Peggy Vincent.
